A CHILD UNDER THE CAR.

A Prospect-Street Baby Will Probably Lose Its Life.

Last evening about 6 o'clock Anna M.
Nicholson, the two-year-old daughter of Vernon K. Nicholson, residing at No. 234 Prospect street, was struck and run over by an electric car on Prospect street near State street and received injuries which may prove fatal. Mrs. Nicholson went to a grocery a few moments before the accident and left her little daughter standing in the yard, and, as she supposed, with the front gate shut. She intended to be away from the house only a short time and left no one in charge of the child.
The latter is barely able to walk. As soon as her mother left she toddled to the gate, pushed it open and went to a tree on the edge of the sidewalk and watched the passing of the electric cars.
She started to go across the street as a car No. 312 of the Blake and Prospect street line, motorman Frank Wright and conductor John Day, approached. She reached the track just as the car swept by and was struck by the dash board, which turned her under the car. One of the front wheels passed over her left hand, cutting it and all the fingers to a pulp.
Motorman Wright stopped the brakes with his utmost strength as he saw the car in twirl the child and stopped it as a rear wheel was passing over the child's right thigh at the ankle. Witnesses of the affair tried to get the car stopped immediately and that the leg was attached to the car merely by the skin. This was held by the wheel. A letter was produced and the skin was cut and the child was pulled from beneath the car. She was carried into her home and received injuries to her head. He found it necessary to amputate the wounded portion of the hand and also crossed the injured leg. The child was very low at a late hour last night, with chances against recovery.
Those who witnessed the affair say that no blame can be attached to motorman Wright. The car was approaching the from the street car tracks, and as the injured child was but a few feet from the track and standing behind a tree until the car was close by the motorman was not enabled to see her until the child was almost on the track.

ALMOST GIVEN AWAY

T. TAGGART QUILTS LOSER ON HIS STABLE OF HARNESS STOCK.

Two Animals So Ashamed of the Bids They Tried to Run Away—Sterling Holt Unsold.

The announcement that there would be maine races at the State fair grounds yesterday afternoon, preceding the public sale of pacing and trotting stock owned by Thomas Taggart, caused a large crowd to assemble, of which a very small majority were intending purchasers. It was also reported that the promising three-year-old trotter Sterling R. Holt was entered for the race, and this was probably the drawing card. However, the races were not given for some reason or other, but this was not announced until after the sale.

The auction sale began at 2 o'clock. Mr.
Taggart told the crowd that the horses would be sold to the highest bidder, and matter what the bid was. He said if the stock was not as represented he would refund the money. He said the reason that he was selling the stock was because he did not have time to devote to his stable.
Owing to the financial depression bids up to the full value of the horses were not expected, but amounts representing at least half of the value were hoped for. When a bid of $300 opened the sale of Richmond, Jr., the first horse offered, the hopes of the auctioneer fell, as well as those of Mr. Taggart. The bidding corresponded to this throughout the sale, just as his bids on the gold and silver were closed he became very frisky and jerked himself from his cap. With a wild dash he flew around the track to the west towards the stables.
He went through several of them despite the desperate efforts of the stablemen to capture him. Finally he returned to the woods in the vicinity of the Monon tracks and was captured there. The two-year-old Grassland Boy tried this also. He was dancing around on the track when the strap broke. He started to follow the path of his predecessor, but the attraction of several horses standing in the lot near the grandstand proved too much for him, and he went to them and was easily captured.
These two events furnished the only excitement of the day. When L. E. Curtis, the eight-year-old roan gelding, was brought to the track for bidding he showed up in excellent form. He has a track record of 2:22, and as he was tried up and down the track in front of the amphitheater he gave evidence that he had lost none of his speed. High bids were expected accordingly.
The bids opened with one of $100, but when the $200 mark was reached the auctioneer swore that it was an outrage and that he would not sell the horse at that price. Finally, with much urging, a man was found who offered $250.

It was now generally assumed that the crowd of spectators would imbue with each rivalry or overladen with money.
When the famous Sterling R. Holt appeared for sale Mr. Taggart told the crowd that in this case only would he take a bid if the bid was too low. He said that he had a record of 2:17, and a possibility of 2:12 was worth considerable money. He was not willing to sell the horse at a bankrupt figure. In addition to the trotter the trotter is entered for several of the races next week, and all the entries are good form, and bids were called for with great expectancy. The first one received was $50. This was satisfactory, and the following ones until $1,000 were received. The bidders stopped and the auctioneer almost exhausted himself in getting the bids. He refused to allow the attempt to get a higher bid were future. Mr. Taggart refused to allow the trotter to be sold at a bankrupt figure. The bidding on Sterling R. Holt showed the true temper of the crowd. A majority came to see the races and to buy. This was further shown when a mare, four years old, dam by Ensign, $200, with a promising suckling colt, was offered and sold for $1,000. The bidders were present simply to see the stock, but who did not bid, and the prices received were five horses sold for $1,000 each, and more of the same kind. It was simply a matter of time before the horses were sold. Mr. Taggart lost several thousand dollars on the investment. He is out of the business and will not be able to buy more with horses and colts. The Indianapolis Driving Club, in addition to the stock of Mr. Taggart sold several stiffer prices. The stock was sold at a profit, and the prices were high.

at the fair grounds again next week at the meeting.

In the 2:12 pace next week Lena Hill, Ellie Powers and Jack Bowers will make a strong trio in a finish.

son, Peru, LaPorte and Lebanon. In Iowa, kosh. In Illinois, at Sullivan, Marseilles, cello, Greenville, Sandwich and Belvidere.

burg, Jefferson, Coshocton, Bowling Green, Dayton, Georgetown and Ashtabula. In Rev. Mr. Whitney's Resignation.

Rev. A. B. Whitney has been pastor of the South-street Baptist Church for five years, and the report printed in yesterday's Journal that he had resigned caused considerable surprise to many members of his congregation, who thought that he would be persuaded to reconsider his intention of resigning, which he announced upon returning from his summer vacation in Michigan, at Grand Rapids, Bay City, Holly, Manistee and Albion.

THE CAT STILL KING

HE HAS A SCHOOL BOARD MAJORITY FIXED FOR MARTINDALE.

John P. Frenzel Will Continue President Through His Understudy—Reorganization on Monday.

The new School Board will be organized on Monday night, and it is more than likely that the new chairman will be Charles Martindale. In answer to a question as to whether he was a candidate for the place Mr. Martindale said that he was, but he said if the members of the board asked him to elect him to the position he would not be insensible to the honor and would undoubtedly accept it. It is also likely that Charles Adam will be re-elected treasurer of the board. It was reported that Messrs. Frenzel, Martindale and Adam have been holding a number of conferences recently at which the state of the reorganization was fixed up. This was emphatically denied by Mr. Adam yesterday, who said that he had not been in any conference at all. Mr. Adam was also asked if he intended to vote for Bud Swift for assistant secretary. His answer was: "I will not vote for any person but Miss Ridenour for assistant secretary."

Mr. Russe will probably be chairman of the committee on buildings and grounds under the newly organized board. Loeper, the present chairman of this committee, will undoubtedly not be reappointed on the committee. This is one of the most important committees of the board and this summer will have a great deal of work under it. The manual training school which is being built will come under the jurisdiction of the committee as will also the three new school buildings that are to be erected.

Mr. Appel, who was elected commissioner in the Eleventh district, says he will vote for Mr. Martindale. This will probably insure the election of Mr. Martindale. The Democrats controlled by Frenzel will vote for him. Mr. Appel says that he only announced on election day that he would support Frenzel for chairman if elected, and after the defeat of Frenzel he decided to support Mr. Martindale. Mr. Appel did not say that he decided to support Mr. Martindale because he considered him the exponent of the school system. He had been asked by other Republicans to assist in organizing the board but declined.

Mr. Martindale was elected commissioner of the Eleventh district. The board moved into the Eleventh district. The board has been raised as to whether this did not disqualify him from being commissioner from the Third district. Mr.
Martindale does not desire to resign on account of this, and it is probable that he cannot be ousted because he does not reside in the district which he represents.

TOO LATE TO HELP HIM.

Edward Carroll's Companions Failed to Save Him from Drowning.

Edward Carroll, the nine-year-old son of Michael Carroll, residing at No. 49 South Missouri street, was drowned in Eagle creek near the L. & N. bridge yesterday afternoon, shortly before 3 o'clock. He and several companions were in bathing. As Carroll was the only one who did not know how to swim, he remained for a while in shallow water, while his companions swam out into deep water. However, the gleeful cries of his companions proved too much for him and he started towards them. As soon as he got beyond his depth he sank and on rising to the surface he cried to his companions for help. They thought he was joking and did not notice him when he sank for the first time. He again sank and, on reappearing, again called for help.
This time his companions started to swim towards him, but he sank for the third and last time before they reached him. His body was recovered soon afterwards and Coroner Beck was summoned. The coroner declared a verdict in accordance with the facts. The body was removed to the morgue of Reahan, Long & Co.

Workhouse Prisoner Escapes.

George Smith, colored, a prisoner at the workhouse, escaped yesterday morning. He was sentenced to ninety days' imprisonment for carrying concealed weapons and had but ten days to serve. He was made a "trustee" by the authorities and was given a special key to the prison. He succeeded in climbing over the south fence unnoticed by the guards. He was afterward seen going in the direction of North Indianapolis. He lives there and it was supposed that he was going home, but an investigation by the authorities failed to locate him.

The regular monthly meeting of the local Y. P. S. C. E. was held last evening at the First Presbyterian Church. In addition to the usual exercises the meeting was also a trial for the annual national meeting,

The first hour was given to a social time, in groups and talked. The parlors of the church were decorated with daisies, which combine the official colors of the Cleveland meeting, white and gold. Mr. Woodburn Masson, president of the local union, was in the chair, and Mr. Allison led the singing of the gospel hymns. The day for the
